Business Report

1. 2025 Business Operating Results

(1) Business Plan Implementation Results

The Company's consolidated revenue for 2025 was NT$3,530.86 million, representing a 3.23% growth from the 2024 consolidated revenue of NT$3,420.29 million. The net loss after tax was NT$108.53 million, with a loss per share of NT$1.18, marking a 39% reduction in loss compared to the 2024 net loss after tax of NT$178.07 million and loss per share of NT$2.01. Between 2023 and 2024, the Company consolidated the production bases of its various subsidiaries, resulting in significant one-time relocation expenses, labor severance costs, and new plant construction costs, which led to a substantial decline in profitability. In 2025, partial capacity consolidation and resource integration were carried out among subsidiaries to maximize overall group interests. Geopolitical risks persisted throughout 2025—such as the Russia-Ukraine war and escalating tensions in the Middle East—alongside China's sluggish real estate market, weak domestic demand, and overcapacity. Additionally, the impact of uncertainty regarding U.S. reciprocal tariff policies on international trade suppressed consumer confidence and squeezed corporate earnings. In 2025, the Company completed a NT$240 million cash capital increase to optimize its financial structure; shareholders and investors maintain strong confidence in the Company's future operations.

(2) Budget implementation status

Not applicable because the Company has not disclosed a financial forecast for 2025 according to the current laws and regulations.

2. R&D Status

In 2025, the Company's research and development expenses totaled NT$104.27 million, representing approximately 3% of the total annual revenue. The R&D strategy primarily focuses on meeting customer requirements for new product designs while remaining dedicated to optimizing existing products and manufacturing processes. By advancing toward high-end products across various application fields, the Company continues to develop cables and wire harness assemblies for automotive, industrial automation, medical, server, and high-end industrial camera applications. These efforts aim to increase the breadth of product applications and expand both product reach and market share.

3. 2026 Business Plan Outline:

While the global economy remains resilient, overall growth momentum in 2026 is expected to slow slightly or remain flat compared to 2025. Key factors influencing the economic outlook include the developmental progress of the artificial intelligence (AI) industry, U.S. tariff policies, and overcapacity issues in China, with varying degrees of impact across major economies. The U.S. is experiencing relatively steady growth, bolstered by AI investments and policy support. In contrast, economic momentum in the Eurozone and the U.K. is weakening due to the effects of tariffs, competitive pressure from China, and fiscal constraints. While Japan is driving investment in key industries, its exports remain constrained by tariffs. China continues to face significant pressure stemming from weak domestic demand and a sluggish real estate market, resulting in a divergent global economic landscape.

In response, the Company is closely monitoring these developments while actively developing applications for high-value-added products and expanding its international business. We remain committed to investing in and building manufacturing competitiveness that keeps pace with the times. By focusing on business fundamentals and strengthening our core capabilities, we aim to establish a more robust foundation for the Company's sustainable development and profitability.

(ii) Analysis

1. Sales Revenue: The actual sales revenue was NT$33,019 thousand lower than predicted, with an achievement rate of 99.1%. Key factors include:

(1) Signal Transmission Cables and Wire Harnesses – Copartner Thailand Plant:

Small-scale shipments of NT$9,399 thousand were originally predicted to commence in Q4 2025, but actual shipments did not occur. This was primarily due to the customer's products being in the medical application field, which involves rigorous certification and audit requirements and longer communication cycles. Actual shipments began being scheduled in February 2026.

(2) Signal Transmission Cables and Wire Harnesses – Other Mainland China Plants: The decrease in revenue from other wire plants in mainland China was primarily due to the early closing of accounts to facilitate year-end inventory counting. The resulting reduction in actual production days led to lower revenue than predicted.

2. Gross Profit: The achievement rate was 100%.

3. Operating Expenses: The actual expenses were 102.8% of the predicted amount. Key factors include:

(1) Selling Expenses: Increased by NT$1,589 thousand over the predicted amount, primarily due to the recognition of increased expected credit impairment losses for a specific customer. The customer has begun making payments successively since January 2026.

(2) Administrative Expenses: Increased by NT$1,893 thousand over the predicted amount, primarily due to the recognition of compensation costs related to employee subscriptions in the new cash capital increase.

(3) Research and Development (R&D) Expenses: Increased by NT$14,416 thousand over the predicted amount, primarily due to increased R&D investment in the second half of the year. This includes various product certification fees, product development sample costs, and personnel expenses for related engineering units.

4. Non-operating Income and Expenses: Decreased by NT$10,691 thousand compared to the predicted amount. This was primarily because the mainland China subsidiary, Shenzhen Wanfu Plant, completed its liquidation, deregistration, and repatriation of capital at the end of 2025. Consequently, the foreign exchange translation losses from the RMB-denominated financial statements of the foreign operation were realized.

5. Income Tax Expense: Decreased by NT$6,500 thousand compared to the predicted amount, primarily due to an increase in income tax benefits recognized from tax loss carryforwards.

The above is the report on the actual implementation status.

INDEPENDENT AUDITORS' REPORT

To the Board of Directors of Copartner Technology Corporation:

Opinion

We have audited the accompanying financial statements of Copartner Technology Corporation, which comprise the parent company only balance sheets for the year ended December 31, 2025 and 2024, and the parent company only statements of comprehensive income for the year ended December 31, 2025 and 2024, the parent company only statements of changes in equity and cash flows for the years then ended, and the parent company only notes to the financial statements (including a summary of significant accounting policies).

In our opinion, the accompanying parent company only financial statements present fairly, in all material respects, Copartner Technology Corporation's parent company only financial position as of December 31, 2025 and 2024 and for the years then ended, and its parent company only financial performance and parent company only cash flows for the years then ended in conformity with the Regulations Governing the Preparation of Financial Reports by Securities Issuers.

Basis for Opinion

We conducted our audits in accordance with the Regulations Governing Auditing and Attestation of Financial Statements by Certified Public Accountants and auditing standards generally accepted in the Republic of China. Our responsibilities under those standards are further described in the Auditors, Responsibilities for the Audit of the Parent Company Only Financial Statements section of our report. We are independent of the Company in accordance with the Norm of Professional Ethics for Certified Public Accountant of the Republic of China and we have fulfilled our other ethical responsibilities in accordance with these requirements. We believe that the audit evidence we have obtained is sufficient and appropriate to provide a basis for our opinion.

Key Audit Matters

Key audit matters are those matters that, in our professional judgment, were of most significance in our audit of the Parent Company Only Financial Statements for the year ended December 31, 2025. These matters were addressed in the context of our Audit of the Parent Company Only Financial Statements as a whole, and in forming our opinion thereon, and we do not provide a separate opinion on these matters.

Key audit matters for the consolidated financial statements of the Company for the year ended December 31, 2025 are stated as follows:

As stated in Note 10 of the parent company only notes to the financial statements, the investment of a subsidiary of Copartner Technology Corporation using the equity method on December 31, 2025, was NT$ 3,425,259 thousand, accounting for 87% of the total assets. From January 1 to December 31, 2024, the share of the subsidiary's interest recognized using the equity method was loss NT$ 28,065 thousand, accounting for (10)% of the sales revenue. Therefore, the financial position and performance of the subsidiary company will have a significant impact on Copartner Technology Corporation. Because its revenue recognition is listed as a key audit matter, the explanation is as follows:

Revenue Recognition

Copartner Technology Corporation and its subsidiaries have recently carried out capacity transfers and the reconfiguration of production locations. Some subsidiaries have completed the construction of their factories and have begun actual operations. Additionally, our country's auditing standards assume that there is a risk of fraud in revenue recognition, as corporate management may, under the pressure to meet budget targets, attempt to inflate sales figures. Therefore, the auditor considers that the subsidiaries, which have completed the construction of factories and started actual operations, face pressure to achieve their planned goals in the early stages of their establishment. After considering the sales process, the auditor has identified the recognition of revenue for these subsidiaries as a key audit matter.

The primary audit procedures carried out by the auditor regarding the above key audit matter are as follows:

Understanding and testing the design and operating effectiveness of key internal controls related to revenue recognition.

Selecting a sample of sales transactions from subsidiaries with completed factory construction and actual operations, reviewing relevant internal and external original documents, and verifying payment processes to ensure there are no anomalies in the recognition of sales revenue.

Responsibilities of Management and Those Charged with Governance for the Parent Company Only Financial Statements

Management is responsible for the preparation and fair presentation of the parent company only financial statements in accordance with the Regulations Governing the Preparation of Financial Reports by Securities Issuers, and for such internal control as management determines is necessary to enable the preparation of parent company only financial statements that are free from material misstatement, whether due to fraud or error.

In preparing the parent company only financial statements, management is responsible for assessing the Company's ability to continue as a going concern, disclosing, as applicable, matters related to going concern and using the going concern basis of accounting unless management either intends to liquidate the Company or to cease operations, or has no realistic alternative but to do so.

Those charged with governance (including members of the Audit Committee) are responsible for overseeing the Company's financial reporting process.

Auditors' Responsibilities for the Audit of the Parent Company Only Financial Statements

Our objectives are to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the parent company only financial statements as a whole are free from material misstatement, whether due to fraud or error, and to issue an auditors' report that includes our opinion. Reasonable assurance is a high level of assurance, but is not a guarantee that an audit conducted in accordance with the auditing standards generally accepted in the Republic of China will always detect a material misstatement contained in the parent company only financial statements. Misstatements may be a result of fraud or error. Misstatements can arise from fraud or error and are considered material if, individually or in the aggregate, they could reasonably be expected to influence the economic decisions of users taken on the basis of these parent company only financial statements.

As part of an audit in accordance with the auditing standards, we exercise professional judgment and maintain professional skepticism throughout the audit. We also:

1. Identify and assess the risks of material misstatement of the parent company only financial statements, whether due to fraud or error, design and perform audit procedures responsive to those risks, and obtain audit evidence that is sufficient and appropriate to provide a basis for our opinion. The risk of not detecting a material misstatement resulting from fraud is higher than for one resulting from error, as fraud may involve collusion, forgery, intentional omissions, misrepresentations, or the override of internal control.
2. Obtain an understanding of internal control relevant to the audit in order to design audit procedures that are appropriate in the circumstances, but not for the purpose of expressing an opinion on the effectiveness of the Company's internal control.
3. Evaluate the appropriateness of accounting policies used and the reasonableness of accounting estimates and related disclosures made by management.

4. Conclude on the appropriateness of management's use of the going concern basis of accounting and, based on the audit evidence obtained, whether a material uncertainty exists related to events or conditions that may cast significant doubt on the Company's ability to continue as a going concern. If we conclude that a material uncertainty exists, we are required to draw attention in our auditors' report to the related disclosures in the parent company only financial statements or, if such disclosures are inadequate, to modify our opinion. Our conclusions are based on the audit evidence obtained up to the date of our auditors' report. However, future events or conditions may cause the Company to cease to continue as a going concern.
5. Evaluate the overall presentation, structure and content of the parent company only financial statements, including the disclosures, and whether the parent company only financial statements represent the underlying transactions and events in a manner that achieves fair presentation.
6. Obtained sufficient and appropriate audit evidence concerning the financial information of entities within the Company, to express an opinion on the Parent Company Only Financial Statements. We are responsible for guiding, supervising, and performing the audit and forming an audit opinion on the Company.

We communicate with those charged with governance regarding, among other matters, the planned scope and timing of the audit and significant audit findings, including any significant deficiencies in internal control that we identify during our audit.

We also provide those charged with governance with a statement that we have complied with relevant ethical requirements regarding independence, and to communicate with them all relationships and other matters that may reasonably be thought to bear on our independence, and where applicable, related safeguards.

From the matters communicated with those charged with governance, we determine those matters that were of most significance in the audit of the parent company only financial statements of the Company for the year ended December 31, 2025 and are therefore the key audit matters. We describe these matters in our auditors' report unless law or regulation precludes public disclosure about the matter or when, in extremely rare circumstances, we determine that a matter should not be communicated in our report because the adverse consequences of doing so would reasonably be expected to outweigh the public interest benefits of such communication.

INDEPENDENT AUDITORS' REPORT

To the Board of Directors of Copartner Technology Corporation:

Opinion

We have audited the accompanying financial statements of Copartner Technology Corporation and its subsidiaries, which comprise the consolidated balance sheets for the year ended December 31, 2025 and 2024, and the consolidated statements of comprehensive income for the year ended December 31, 2025 and 2024, the consolidated statements of changes in equity and cash flows for the years then ended, and the consolidated notes to the financial statements (including a summary of significant accounting policies).

In our opinion, the accompanying consolidated financial statements present fairly, in all material respects, the consolidated financial position of the Company and its subsidiaries as of December 31, 2025 and 2024, and its consolidated financial performance and its consolidated cash flows for the years then ended in accordance with the Regulations Governing the Preparation of Financial Reports by Securities Issuers and the International Financial Reporting Standards (IFRS), International Accounting Standards (IAS), IFRIC Interpretations (IFRIC), and SIC Interpretations (SIC) endorsed and issued into effect by the Financial Supervisory Commission of the Republic of China.

Basis for Opinion

We conducted our audits in accordance with the Regulations Governing Auditing and Attestation of Financial Statements by Certified Public Accountants and auditing standards generally accepted in the Republic of China. Our responsibilities under those standards are further described in the Auditors, Responsibilities for the Audit of the Consolidated Financial Statements section of our report. We are independent of the Company and its subsidiaries in accordance with the Norm of Professional Ethics for Certified Public Accountant of the Republic of China and we have fulfilled our other ethical responsibilities in accordance with these requirements. We believe that the audit evidence we have obtained is sufficient and appropriate to provide a basis for our opinion.

Key Audit Matters

Key audit matters are those matters that, in our professional judgment, were of most significance in our audit of the Consolidated Financial Statements for the year ended December 31, 2025. These matters were addressed in the context of our Audit of the Consolidated Financial Statements as a whole, and in forming our opinion thereon, and we do not provide a separate opinion on these matters.

Key audit matters for the consolidated financial statements of the Company and its subsidiaries for the year ended December 31, 2025 are stated as follows:

Revenue Recognition

Copartner Technology Corporation and its subsidiaries have recently carried out capacity transfers and the reconfiguration of production locations. Some subsidiaries have completed the construction of their factories and have begun actual operations. Additionally, our country's auditing standards assume that there is a risk of fraud in revenue recognition, as corporate management may, under the pressure to meet budget targets, attempt to inflate sales figures. Therefore, the auditor considers that the subsidiaries, which have completed the construction of factories and started actual operations, face pressure to achieve their planned goals in the early stages of their establishment. After considering the sales process and the status of accounts receivable aging, the auditor has identified the recognition of revenue for these subsidiaries as a key audit matter.

The primary audit procedures carried out by the auditor regarding the above key audit matter are as follows:

Understanding and testing the design and operating effectiveness of key internal controls related to revenue recognition.

Selecting a sample of sales transactions from subsidiaries with completed factory construction and actual operations, reviewing relevant internal and external original documents, and verifying payment processes to ensure there are no anomalies in the recognition of sales revenue.

Other Matters

We have also audited the parent company only financial statements of Copartner Technology Corporation as year of and for the years ended December 31, 2025 and 2024 on which we have issued an unmodified opinion.

Responsibilities of Management and Those Charged with Governance for the Consolidated Financial Statements

Management is responsible for the preparation and fair presentation of the consolidated financial statements in accordance with the Regulations Governing the Preparation of Financial Reports by Securities Issuers and the IFRS, IAS, IFRIC, and SIC endorsed and issued into effect by the Financial Supervisory Commission of the Republic of China, and for such internal control as management determines is necessary to enable the preparation of consolidated financial statements that are free from material misstatement, whether due to fraud or error.

In preparing the consolidated financial statements, management is responsible for assessing the Company and its subsidiaries' ability to continue as a going concern, disclosing, as applicable, matters related to going concern and using the going concern basis of accounting unless management either intends to liquidate the Company and its subsidiaries or to cease operations, or has no realistic alternative but to do so.

Those charged with governance (including members of the Audit Committee) are responsible for overseeing the Company and its subsidiaries' financial reporting process.

Auditors' Responsibilities for the Audit of the Consolidated Financial Statements

Our objectives are to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the consolidated financial statements as a whole are free from material misstatement, whether due to fraud or error, and to issue an auditors' report that includes our opinion. Reasonable assurance is a high level of assurance, but is not a guarantee that an audit conducted in accordance with the auditing standards generally accepted in the Republic of China will always detect a material misstatement contained in the consolidated financial statements. Misstatements may be a result of fraud or error. Misstatements can arise from fraud or error and are considered material if, individually or in the aggregate, they could reasonably be expected to influence the economic decisions of users taken on the basis of these consolidated financial statements.

As part of an audit in accordance with the auditing standards, we exercise professional judgment and maintain professional skepticism throughout the audit. We also:

1. Identify and assess the risks of material misstatement of the consolidated financial statements, whether due to fraud or error, design and perform audit procedures responsive to those risks, and obtain audit evidence that is sufficient and appropriate to provide a basis for our opinion. The risk of not detecting a material misstatement resulting from fraud is higher than for one resulting from error, as fraud may involve collusion, forgery, intentional omissions, misrepresentations, or the override of internal control.
2. Obtain an understanding of internal control relevant to the audit in order to design audit procedures that are appropriate in the circumstances, but not for the purpose of expressing an opinion on the effectiveness of the Company and its subsidiaries' internal control.
3. Evaluate the appropriateness of accounting policies used and the reasonableness of accounting estimates and related disclosures made by management.
4. Conclude on the appropriateness of management's use of the going concern basis of accounting and, based on the audit evidence obtained, whether a material uncertainty exists related to events or conditions that may cast significant doubt on the Company and its subsidiaries' ability to continue as a going concern. If we conclude that a material uncertainty exists, we are required to draw attention in our auditors' report to the related disclosures in the consolidated financial statements or, if such disclosures are inadequate, to modify our opinion. Our conclusions are based on the audit evidence obtained up to the date of our auditors' report. However, future events or conditions may cause the Company and its subsidiaries to cease to continue as a going concern.

5. Evaluate the overall presentation, structure and content of the consolidated financial statements, including the disclosures, and whether the consolidated financial statements represent the underlying transactions and events in a manner that achieves fair presentation.
6. Obtain sufficient and appropriate audit evidences concerning the financial information of the entities in the Company and its subsidiaries, to express opinions on the Consolidated Financial Statements. We are responsible for guiding, supervising, and performing the audit and forming an audit opinion on the Company and its subsidiaries.

We communicate with those charged with governance regarding, among other matters, the planned scope and timing of the audit and significant audit findings, including any significant deficiencies in internal control that we identify during our audit.

We also provide those charged with governance with a statement that we have complied with relevant ethical requirements regarding independence, and to communicate with them all relationships and other matters that may reasonably be thought to bear on our independence, and where applicable, related safeguards.

From the matters communicated with those charged with governance, we determine those matters that were of most significance in the audit of the consolidated financial statements of the Company and its subsidiaries for the year ended December 31, 2025 and are therefore the key audit matters. We describe these matters in our auditors' report unless law or regulation precludes public disclosure about the matter or when, in extremely rare circumstances, we determine that a matter should not be communicated in our report because the adverse consequences of doing so would reasonably be expected to outweigh the public interest benefits of such communication.
